lie instruction inviting the members to visit and see the works of the school children was read and placed on file.

Communication from the County Clerk giving an account of what had been done by the County during the last two years was also read, accepted and placed on file.

HOME RULERS HUCK.

The concurrent resolution providing for the bringing out of the Congressional party was read. It provides that the expenses are to be borne by the Territory. Rice moved that the House concur in this resolution. Kanaloa moved that it be referred to the Finance Committee, as the Territory was hard up with money. He said that when the members returned to their districts their constituents would be howling at them.

Rice, in support of his motion, said that the amount of $15,000 would mean millions of dollars to the Territory. Sheldon supported the views taken by Rice. Mahoe moved that the resolution be referred to the Finance Committee. Kanaloa moved that ayes and noes be taken. Results showed 26 ayes and 4 noes. The concurrent resolution was adopted.

WOULD UNSEAT MEMBERS.

Mahoe introduced a petition contesting the seats of Representatives Joseph, Waiwale, Kaluna and Nakaleka. They were notaries public at the time of their election. The petition was signed by 24 voters. It was referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Kanaloa introduced a resolution to the effect that the heads of departments be requested to appear before the Finance Committee and explain their needs.

Kanaloa introduced a resolution providing that the Health Committee be requested to investigate the segregation of lepers. Adopted.

SENATE GOES SLOW

tion and before 11 o'clock there was no more in sight to be done.

The Senate met at 10 o'clock. A letter was read from the Superintendent of Public Instruction inviting the Senators to view the exhibits of school work in the rooms and at the Promotion quarters.

The House reported that it had appointed the House members of a joint committee of six from each house to investigate the Nuuanu dam. Coelho moved to consider the matter immediately. He said the idea was a good one. The idea was to get the necessary facts about the dam in hand in time for the time when the appropriation for the continuation of the dam work came up. He moved to adopt the resolution as passed by the House.

DEFER DAM MATTER.

Dowsett said it was rather early to take up the matter. It might properly be left to the Expenditures Committee, as well as other similar matters. If this committee wanted assistance it could call for it. It was not good policy to appoint special committees for every such matter that came up.

Chillingworth, the chairman of the Expenditures Committee, said he concurred with Dowsett. It was up to that committee to find out if there was anything wrong about the dam, and if it found that this was the case, it could report to the Senate that such was the fact, when a special committee could be appointed. He had been informed that the committee appointed by the House was going to ask for a $2000 appropriation to help it in its work. This was unnecessary, and such a committee would be unwieldy.

Lane moved to table the House concurrent resolution.

Correa introduced a resolution instructing the Committee on Public Lands and Internal Improvements to investigate the matter of the proposed exchange of the Lanai government lands and to report forthwith.

The resolution read as follows: "Be it Resolved by the House of Representatives of the Territory of Hawaii: That the Committee on Public Lands and Internal Improvements be instructed to investigate the matter of the proposed exchange of the Lanai lands and to report forthwith such facts as are necessary to guide the House in the consideration of public matters."

"That said committee be empowered to employ a stenographer, to send for papers and persons and to administer oaths."

The resolution passed without a hitch.

A communication from Secretary Atkinson furnishing the members with thirty-one copies of the Revised Laws of Hawaii was read and placed on file. Castro's resolution, thanking the Delegate for his good work, was taken up and the introduction of the resolution moved that it be adopted. Carried.

Mahoe wanted to know under what rules the House was bound. He contended that Rule 46 reads that a resolution should be written in ink on foolscap paper. Rawlins wanted to know whether a type-written resolution could be entertained. The matter was finally referred to the Committee on Rules. Rawlins moved that all bills should be referred to the Printing
